What is an EAD?

- Employment Authorization Documents (EADs) are documents issued by the US government that permit eligible non-citizens to work legally in the United States.
- AKA work permits
- It comes in the form of an identification card, and it can be used as a government-issued ID.
- With an EAD, people will receive a Social Security Card
- If you are not a U.S. citizen or a Permanent Resident, employers will often expect you to have an EAD card to make sure you are legally allowed to work.

Who qualifies for an EAD?

- Many types of applicants qualify for an EAD, including asylum applicants, DACA recipients, F1 visa holders, U visa applicants, Temporary Protected Status (TPS) recipients, people under an Order of Supervision, and more.
- Today we will discuss 2 main bases for applying for an EAD:
 - Asylum applicants
 - Parolees

EADs for Asylum Seekers

- The “Clock” ⇒ how many days an asylum application has been pending with USCIS or with Immigration Court
- Asylum seekers may submit an application for an EAD when the clock reaches 150 days.
- They are then eligible to receive an EAD when the clock reaches 180 days.
- To check the number of days on your clock:
 - Defensive Asylum (Immigration Court): Call EOIR Automated Case Information System at (800) 898-7180
 - Affirmative Asylum (USCIS): calculate number of days starting with the day I-589 application was received by USCIS

When the Clock might stop!

“Applicant-caused delays”

When the case is pending with USCIS at the Asylum Office

- A request to transfer a case to a new asylum office or interview location
- A request to reschedule an interview for a later date
- Failure to appear at an interview or biometrics appointment
- Etc.

When the case is pending with EOIR at the Immigration Court

- A request for the case to be continued so you can get an attorney
- A request by the applicant or attorney for additional time to prepare the case;
- The Judge granting a Motion to Change Venue
- Etc

How to apply for a first-time EAD as an Asylum Seeker

- Form: I-765, Application for Employment Authorization;
- To include with Form I-765:
 - Proof that I-589 application was filed:
 - I-797C USCIS receipt notice or stamped copy of I-589 submitted to Immigration Court
 - Copy of identity document with photo: passport biographic page, foreign ID (must include certified English translation if it's in a foreign language), etc.
 - Copy of visa and/or I-94 if available;
 - If applying as child based on parent's asylum application, copy of birth certificate with certified English translation
 - Two identical passport-sized photographs of you, taken within the last 30 days;
 - Certificates of Disposition if there is a criminal record

First-time EADs for Asylum Applicants are FREE

Filling out the I-765 as a first-time Asylum Seeker

For applications filed online:

The screenshot shows the USCIS myaccount.uscis.gov sign-in page. At the top left, the browser address bar displays 'myaccount.uscis.gov'. The page header features the USCIS logo and the text 'U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services'. Below the header, the 'Sign In' section includes an 'Email' field with a red asterisk, a 'Password' field with a red asterisk, and a 'Show Password' link. A 'Forgot your Password?' link is also present. A blue 'Sign In' button is located below the password field. At the bottom of the sign-in section, there is a note: 'One account for all of your USCIS needs. Create an account.' and a link 'Didn't receive confirmation instructions?'.

You will need to create a USCIS Account through myaccount.uscis.gov and have a valid email address.

Only certain I-765 can be filed online, but this does include asylum seekers and parolees.

After submitting the I-765

Receipt notice:

After submitting the I-765, the application will receive a receipt notice (I-797C Notice of Action from USCIS) letting you know that they have received your application. If application sent by mail, this arrives after a few weeks or sometimes a little longer. If submitted online, the receipt notice arrives in a few days.

Biometrics appointment:

The applicant will receive a I-797C Notice of Action from USCIS to get fingerprints taken at a specific location on a specific date. People must bring the notice and a photo ID. They should not miss this appointment, as it is very difficult to reschedule.

Processing times and receiving the EAD

- After completing biometrics, first-time asylum EAD applications are generally approved within several months.
- If USCIS needs more information before approving: they will send a Request for Evidence (RFE) listing the additional documentation they need in order to approve, with a specific deadline by which it must be submitted, and the address of the office where it must be sent.

Processing times and receiving the EAD

- Processing Times: <https://egov.uscis.gov/processing-times/>
- Online Status (Have your Receipt Number!):
<https://egov.uscis.gov/casestatus/>

Social Security Cards

- If the Social Security card does not arrive within a few weeks after the EAD card does, the applicant should go to their nearest Social Security Administration office.
- To find the nearest Social Security Office:
<https://secure.ssa.gov/ICON/main.jsp>
- Either walk-in or make an appointment

How long does an EAD remain valid?

- The EAD will remain valid until the expiration date listed on the card. For asylum seekers, the card must be renewed every two years.
- There is currently an automatic extension of asylum seekers' EADs by 540 days, if they file their renewal before the expiration date of their current EAD.
- Applicants should try to submit renewal applications for their EAD at least a few months before the expiration date, but we recommend 6 months before because (c)(8) renewals can take a year.

Renewing the EAD for Asylum Applicants

- The EAD renewal process will largely require the same documents as before: The completed I-765, any passports/visas/I-94 documents, and two recent passport-sized photos.
- Also include a copy of the current EAD
- Renewals can be done by mail or online.
- Renewals are not free - must pay $410 or apply for a fee waiver.

Fee Waivers

How to apply for a fee waiver

- If you are unable to afford the $410 filing fee at this time, you can attempt to file a I-912, Request for Fee Waiver. You qualify for a fee waiver if:
 - (1) You, your spouse, or the head of your household is getting a means-tested benefit. This is usually medicaid, and we prove this through a letter from the NY State Department of Health stating you are eligible for Medicaid. (A medicaid ID card alone is not enough.)
 - (2) Your household income is less than 150% of the Federal Poverty Guidelines; or
 - (3) You have a financial hardship.
- Medicaid is the easiest and the most straightforward way to receive a fee waiver.

EADs for Parolees

- EADs available for those who entered on parole
- Category (c)(11)
- Same requirements as (c)(8) EADs, but must also include “a copy of your valid, unexpired Form I-94, passport, or other travel document showing you were paroled into the United States”
- Can usually find most recent I-94 online (with passport # or sometimes A#)

The screenshot shows the website i94.cbp.dhs.gov/i94/#/recent-search. The main heading is "Get Most Recent I-94". Below this, there is a sub-heading "Get your most recent I-94 form to prove your legal visitor status in the United States (Available going back to 1983 for most classes of admission, (or parole), and indefinitely for certain classes, such as diplomats and those admitted under the Compacts of Free Association.)". There are two tabs: "Enter Traveler Info" (active) and "Most Recent I-94 Results".

The "Enter Your Traveler Info" section contains a note: "Note: The info returned may not reflect applications submitted to or benefits received by U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services or Immigration and Customs Enforcement." Below the note is a form with the following fields:

- * First (Given) Name :
- * Last (Family) Name/Surname :
- * Birth Date : Day, Month, Year

There are help icons (?) next to the last name and birth date fields. To the right of the form is a "Sample Passport" image. Below the passport image, there is text: "Enter all information exactly appears on your travel documentation you used to enter the U.S." and "Enlarge the image to see more detail."

EADs for Parolees

- EADs only last for the duration of parole
- If parole period is under 2 years, likely not worth applying due to long processing times
- (c)(11) EADs are not free - they cost $410 or require a fee waiver

How to check case processing times

Website:

<https://egov.uscis.gov/processing-times/>

Have receipt notice on hand with the relevant USCIS field office

The screenshot shows the USCIS Case Processing Times website. The browser address bar displays the URL <https://egov.uscis.gov/processing-times/>. The page header includes the USCIS logo and the text "U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services". Navigation links for "Topics", "Forms", "Newsroom", "Citizenship", "Green Card", and "Laws" are visible. A link for Spanish access is provided: "Para tener acceso a este sitio en español, presione aquí". The main heading is "Check Case Processing Times", followed by the instruction "Select your form, form category, and the office that is processing your case". A note advises users to refer to their receipt notice for form, category, and office details, and to visit the "More Information About Case Processing Times" page for further details. The form contains three dropdown menus: "Form" (selected: I-765 | Application for Employment Authorization), "Form Category" (selected: Select One), and "Field Office or Service Center" (selected: Select One). When an EAD is no longer needed for work authorization

- An EAD is no longer required to provide work authorization for those granted asylum or who received permanent residence.
- Asylum recipients and permanent residence may get unrestricted social security cards, providing them the right to work indefinitely. They may still keep and renew their EAD card as a form of a government-issued ID as long as remains valid.
- To get an unrestricted social security card: make an appointment at the nearest Social Security Administration office, fill out an application for a new Social Security Card, bring a form of ID verifying both your age and identity (i.e. passport), and either a judge's order granting asylum or a USCIS notice granting you asylum.
